

Allocate a Minimum of $125M of the Health Care Facility Transformation Fund to Community-Based Healthcare Providers

New York’s stated priority is to transform the health care system by providing access to high-quality, coordinated care through the integration of primary care and other community-based care; however, there has not been an equitable investment in the community-based health care sector to support this work.

- A minimum of $125M, or 25% of the $500M Health Care Facility Transformation Fund, should be allocated solely to community-based healthcare providers to support their activities in furtherance of healthcare transformation initiatives.
- This amount mirrors the DSRIP goal of reducing unnecessary hospitalizations by 25%.

Since 2014, 6% of the $2.8 billion allocated for healthcare transformation has gone to non-hospital community-based health care providers, including FQHCs. Community-based providers need access to resources to support transformation activities including integration of services, reimaged care coordination models in preparation for value based payment, modernization and expansion of facilities, and solidification of new and existing partnerships to address social determinations of health.
